Scholarship Recipients

This morning we were able to see the “fruits” of our labor throughout the year.

Through the various projects our club participates in, we raise money to fund scholarships to high school seniors. This morning we were introduced to and heard from our club’s scholarship winners. Each recipient will receive a $1,000.00 scholarship to be applied toward their first year of college. Both of this year’s recipients were from Abraham Lincoln High School. They were chosen from twenty eight applicants. Those applications were reviewed by Nancy, Jo, Jennifer, Rachel and Chris who selected this year’s scholarship winners. Both girls are academically very strong.

Claire Wilder was the first to present. Her parents, Myron and Angela, were in attendance. Claire has been involved in a variety of activities, events since her freshman year. She has participated in cross country and tennis having lettered in each sport. She was elected student body vice president for this school year. She has also participated in speech and the organic gardening club. Claire was most proud of the academic honor she received from the World Food Prize. She reported she wrote an essay and was selected to attend the World Food Prize event. Her essay focused on solving world hunger. Claire has been actively involved in volunteering for many years. After graduating high school, she plans to attend Iowa State University. Her major will be in global resource systeming. This degree will combine her interests in agriculture and working abroad. Her intent is to focus on the sustainability of agriculture in Latin America.

Taylor Bahr attended with her mother, Kristina. Taylor has also been very active since coming to high school. She has been involved with student council, national honor society, key club, speech and the dance team. She has been active in volunteering. She shared that her career interests changed significantly following a mission trip she attended this past summer in Rwanda. She plans on returning to Rwanda this summer and is actively working on the funding for this venture. Her plans are to attend Drake University. She intends on majoring in international relations with a pre-law focus. Her intent is to obtain a law degree with a goal of working for a nonprofit entity to continue her focus on mission work.

Both recipients are fine examples of our high school students graduating this year. Both students remembered being involved in our fifth grade career fair. Each student has been successful in not only excelling in the classroom, but giving of their time to other causes in addition to working. Their lives are busy yet they have successfully juggled these interests. Our future looks bright with these two recipients. Thanks again to Nancy, Jo, Rachel, Jennifer and Chris for their work and dedication to making this event occur.

Centennial News

Committee 3 has determined that our first of the month collections for April, May and June will go to our local food pantries. The committee realizes that we already participate in the food drive on Super Bowl weekend and this event also benefits the local food pantries however, the need for monetary contributions throughout the entire year can't be underestimated. As you have heard in the past, monetary donations to the food bank can go so much farther than contributions of actual food. So, at our meetings which occur on the first of the month for April, May and June, we will commence with donations to our area food banks.
